The name for this second exhibition - "@nonymous.urban" - relates to urbanity, anonymity but also to modernity as implied by the wordplay. Portuguese photographer Magda Fernandes explores the notion of invisibility using a classical pinhole camera as her main tool. The images shown here are a part of an ever growing series that will exhibit in Lisbon later this year.

From Italy, photographer Marika Bertoni explores the link between man and the space he inhabits in her black & white series "Unknown ID". CbN is showing a small part of a bigger series linking urban spaces from New York to Los Angeles, Miami to Berlin, to Warsaw and to Lisbon.

This is the second exhibition at the City by Night online gallery and evolves the unique concept of this virtual multimedia art space.
